NATION'S LUCKIEST MAN?

Paul Kajanapas, the top manager at Impact Muang Thong Thani, is proud to say he is one of luckiest people in the country, aside from running Thailand's biggest a venue for MICE (meetings, incentives, conventions and exhibitions) business in terms of space, number of events, and integrated services.

He also claims to be the most handsome man in the MICE sector when compared with other big venues like Bangkok International Trade and Exhibition Centre, Queen Sirikit National Convention Centre and large meeting places in luxury hotels, as most of those places are now led by females.

Last but not least, he said a lot of people in the MICE industry might have come to hate him last year when many events set for venues in the city centre were postponed or cancelled because of the political turmoil, but that chaos had little impact on Impact.

"All that is just about my luck," he said.
